Not so many years ago the radio was a squawking infant. And my how times do change. We almost said, "tempus fugit."

Do you remember those old sets? The first one, of course, was one of those crystal sets. A couple of yards of bright wire was wrapped around a mailing tube, and then there was a dingus that one would slide along on a brass rail.

Then there was a mysterious piece of ore in a slot, and a ditty that one tickled the ore with.

Then there were the ear phones, which one adjusted in breathless silence, hoping to hear a faint humm. Then one would slide the slide along the rail, and monkey with the tickler until presently, one would hear Oakland or San Francisco stations faintly playing.

Pretty soon the crystal sets were gotten out in boxes with mysterious knobs and dials on the front. If one were lucky one could select two or three nearby stations in the evening.

And how our "experts" used to sit back and declare what a wonderful thing the radio was.

Before long, the first one tube set came out—still with earphones. That was the height of perfection!

Then more tubes were added and a loud speaker was hooked up to the set—a loud speaker built of tin that made jazz orchestras sound worse than they are.

And then came the dynamic speaker—and more tubes—until today one thinks that the radio has reached its last stage.

But the radio is still an infant for it is only a few years old. Just think what future years will bring us.

WOMAN HELD
SLAYER OF TOT

DENVER, Dec. 8. —UP— Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin was found guilty of the murder of her ten year old step-daughter, Leona, by a jury in the Westside district court here tonight.

The jury deliberated four hours and 22 minutes.

The verdict carries a penalty of life imprisonment.

John M. Keating, young chief defense counsel announced immediately he would appeal to the state supreme court.

Carried From Court

Mrs. O'Loughlin tall, red-haired and attractive slumped to her chair when the verdict was read. She was literally carried from the court room.

The court room was jammed to capacity, mostly with girls and women. Several women in the audience wept. The death-like stillness pervaded the courtroom when the verdict was announced.

The jury was instructed to return one of two verdicts:

1—Guilty of first-degree murder, fixing the penalty at life imprisonment at hard labor in the penitentiary; or

2—Not guilty.

District Attorney Earl Wetengel divided his final arguments to the jury in two parts: 1—"Who had the opportunity to kill Leona?" 2—"Who had the motive to commit the crime?"

Father Weeps

He said Leo O'Loughlin, father of the slain child, and his brother, Frank, who roomed at the O'Loughlin home, had accounted for their whereabouts on the night of Oct. 14, when Leona was taken from her home and murdered, and their testimony was undisputed.

By the plain process of elimination, the district attorney declared, "Pearl O'Loughlin was the only one who had an opportunity to commit the crime."

The attractive, red-haired defendant remained calm during Wetengel's plea to the jury. She never flinched as the prosecutor time and again pointed an accusing finger at her.

The father of the slain girl, who was in court room with a group of fellow police officers, broke down and wept as Wetengel reconstructed a vivid picture of the crime.

Widow Of Bandit
Pleads Not Guilty

OAKLAND, Dec. 8.—The trial of Ellen Ellis Smith, "bandit queen" and widow of Frank E. Smith, killed here a week ago and alleged leader of the bandit gang that staged the Meavoy and Nobel mail train robberies, was yesterday continued until Dec. 15 for new plea.

On arraignment, she pleaded not guilty to both counts of the indictment charging her with complicity in the Meavoy robbery 13 months ago. However, she told United States Attorney George J. Hatfield several minutes later that she had not obtained an attorney, yet intended to secure one. Therefore, the plea was set aside until Dec. 15.

It is believed that authorities still retain hopes of gaining information from the widow concerning the robberies in which her husband is alleged to have participated.

Additional clues have been gathered by eastbay police in their search for the missing members of the Smith gang. Chester Leat, service station attendant at 2550 High street gas station reported that two men driving a Washington licensed car ordered 15 gallons of gasoline, but suddenly sped away from the station after only three gallons had been pumped into their tank. The car was a blue sedan bearing a Washington license, 375-905.

Two automobiles with Washington license numbers, one of which was 575-905 were reported by Oakland police to have followed the automobile transporting Smith to the Oakland post office after her arrest, and had then followed when Smith was shot down in his break for freedom.

A pair of Washington automobile license plates, numbered 376-328, have been turned over to the police by Manuel de Costa, 1638 A-son avenue and Victor Santos, 1020 Kennedy street.

A check is being made with authorities in Washington in order to trace these plates.

Sister Victim Of Brother's Plot

Roessler, 2636 Waring street, and president of the University of California Men's club was to be injured or killed if $200 was not given Frank Biffer, 43, her brother and Elmer Floyd, police say. The demand was made on Mrs. Katherine Biffer of Los Angeles, mother of the anticipated victim.

Floyd was arrested in Los Angeles yesterday when he accepted a dummy package supposed to have contained the $200 given by Mrs. Biffer. He implicated Biffer, who was taken into custody in San Francisco where he was being held for Los Angeles authorities.

Mrs. Roessler said she had not seen her brother for 15 years and would not know him. She said her mother had previously given her brother financial aid and she would have done the same if he had asked.

OPERATOR TO OPEN AIR

If airplanes were less expensive there would be more persons owning their own ships.

That was the theory advanced by H. A. Morse, Richmond engineering expert last night as he announced plans for the opening of a school for the manufacture of aircraft by a machine process method that will bring the cost of present $8000 ships down to the price range of a six-cylinder automobile.

The school which opens its doors tonight under the name of the Pacific Aircraft company with headquarters at 257-59 Sixteenth street will train a corps of men who will be fitted for the manufacture and sale of these machine-made ships. These same men in the majority of cases will become employees of the concern, Morse stated in outlining his plans.

Approximately 15 men have already been engaged to enter the class which will be conducted over a period of two years. Graduates of the course will be fully acquainted with the plans of the Pacific Aircraft company and will be expected to carry on the ideals of the concern.

REVENGE IS
MOTIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—UP—An elderly Chinese houseboy who excitedly called authorities to the apartment of his mistress on exclusive Nob Hill this morning to disclose that she had been strangled to death with a bed sheet, was charged with the murder of Mrs. Rosetta Baker late today.

Authorities claimed they had evidence that Leu Fook, the houseboy, had harbored revenge against Mrs. Baker, 60-year-old widow who had gained prominence as a clubwoman, amateur actress, dancer and song writer.

As startling as was the discovery of the body was the announcement by police that they had placed the charge against Leu and the method they had used to establish a case against him.

Revenge Motive

Beside the body of Mrs. Baker had been found a tiny piece of skin. Investigating officers noted that Fook had been badly scratched lately and skin had been torn from the back of his hand. They placed the piece of skin they found over the hole in the houseboy's hand and claimed it matched exactly.

"Revenge was the motive," Detective Sergeant Allan McGinnis, head of the homicide squad, said. "Mrs. Baker had discharged Fook some time ago and then taken (Continued on Page Eight)

'Depression'
Discussed By Prison Paper

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Dec. 8.—UP—The San Quentin Bulletin, published monthly by prison inmates, was issued today with an editorial that discussed unemployment and business depression of the United States so seriously that one might believe the night shift of the penitentiary was about to be discharged.

Editor Herbert R. Jackson pointed out that many crimes due to hard times might be avoided if a remedy for the depression could be found. He suggested "diverting a small portion of call money into industrial channels."

Cromwell Ormsby, former attorney for Alvin Karpis, McPherson serving a term for conspiracy to bribe, had an article in the current issue about the prison hog ranch and there it is an editorial note that "while it does not tell much about hogs it is rich in other respects."

JOBLESS AID
RAISE ASKED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—UP—Various senate democrats today denounced the administration's moderate relief program as a "drop in the bucket" and demanded expenditure of a billion dollars or more and high income taxes on rich people to meet the increased government deficit.

Senator David I. Walsh, dem. Mass., took the lead by introducing a bill for a five-day work week for all governmental employees, and calling on the democratic party to "accept the mandate of the November election" by proposing and fighting for an ambitious program of its own.

Senator Caraway, rep. Ark., and others proposed payment in cash of soldier bonus certificates to put two or three billions in circulation, and Senator Royal S. Copeland, dem., N. Y., blamed Secretary Mellon for getting the account-books of the government in their present condition through too rapid payment of the war debt.

Another administration attack on proposed direct federal relief came tonight from Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, opposing the senate plan of authorizing loans to farmers for food for themselves as well as for their livestock and seed needs. DEATH ENDS
CAREER OF

SANTA CLARA, Dec. 8.—UP—Father Jerome S. Ricard "Padre of the Rains" died at the infirmary of the University of Santa Clara at 9:10 p. m. tonight.

Although Father Ricard had been ill from a weakened heart for more than a year his sudden death tonight was unexpected.

He had gone for a short walk Saturday and had been in good spirits this morning. Neither of his physicians, Dr. Frederick Gerlach and Dr. Louis Rose, heart specialist, was present at the time of his death.

Father Joseph M. Georgen, superintendent of Santa Clara university was at his bedside tonight and said the noted scientist passed away quietly.

Father Georgen said that Father Ricard had been semi-conscious to the end. The "Padre of the Rains" suffered a relapse Sunday night and last rights of the Catholic church were administered to him. But when Father Georgen stepped into his room this morning he was cheerful, called his friend by name, and seemed to be improved.

Brother Anthony, infirmarian of Santa Clara, Father Ricard's nurse, were also present at the time of his death.

'Bonecrushers' Win Northern Grid Title

OAKLAND, Dec. 8.—Santa Rosa "Bonecrushers" eleven made themselves champions of northern California Legion teams in their defeat of the Antioch eleven yesterday in the Emeryville park, when they won by a 15 to 6 score.

The "Bonecrushers" will meet Long Beach's Legion eleven for the state title. This is the second year that Antioch has been eliminated by the Santa Rosa outfit in their fight to represent the north for the state title.

"Noddy" Gahuzzi, halfback for the Santa Rosans, scored both touchdowns for his team and was the shining light during the entire play. Gahuzzi played for the West Coast Army team this season where he was the scoring performer.

For the losers Sweet did most spectacular work. The Antioch outfit took the ball from their own 36 yard line to the "Bonecrushers" 15 yard line where Sweet went around end for a touchdown. The conversion try failed. The goal was made in the third quarter.

Santa Rosa's touchdowns were made in the second and third quarters. The first was taken over from the 10 yard stripe, and the conversion was good, the second attempt failed.

Approximately 1500 persons witnessed the game, which was marked by the fight of the Antioch team. They were outwitted, but held their opponents in check as the score indicated.

Stanford Has New Coach For Cager Squads

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 8.—John W. Bunn, Stanford's new basketball coach, was one of the greatest all-round athletes ever turned out by the University of Kansas. The Cardinal mentor won ten varsity letters while a student at Kansas—more than any other athlete ever won—four in football, three in basketball, and three in baseball.

And Bunn played a variety of positions on these teams. In football, he was either a quarterback or halfback as the occasion demanded. In basketball, he could play guard or forward. His favorite position in baseball was catcher but he filled in at shortstop and first base whenever he was needed there.

Since his graduation in 1921, Bunn has been at the University of Kansas as a teacher and coach. Having majored in engineering, he was made an instructor in the school of engineering from 1921 to 1924. He was also a part time instructor in physical education during this period. Beginning in 1924, Bunn was a full time man in the department of physical education, although he continued part time in engineering until 1928.

For the past five years, he has been backfield coach for the football team at Kansas, assistant varsity and head of the basketball team, and head basketball coach at Stanford. He is handling both varsity and freshman court contests.

WOODMAN NINE DEFEATED BY RODEO

One of the biggest surprises in this season's inter-county winter baseball league occurred Sunday in the form of a 10 to 4 victory for Rodeo over the Richmond Woodmen.

The league leading Woodmen were expected to completely outclass Rodeo, until now a rather unsuccessful outfit. Instead, the Rodeo boys smashed through to a decisive victory.

The Woodmen started off in their usual style Sunday by bringing in three runs in the first inning and holding Rodeo scoreless. Rodeo gathered one credit in the second inning. The third inning was the downfall of the Woodmen, as Rodeo collected five hits and five runs in this period. The remainder of the game was fairly even and intensely fought.

Geister checked a consistent game for Rodeo, allowing the locals nine hits. Hansen of the Woodmen did well on the mound until the third inning, when he lost control and was replaced by Martin.

The Rodeo hitters collected a 12 hit total. Gillan, Wickeser and Faria collected three baggers while Faria, Peacock, Mofzoa, Quill and Downey all pounded out two base hits.

ODD FELLOWS DEFEATED BY Y. M. I.

The Richmond Odd Fellows went down before the hard hitting Y. M. I. nine by a score of 9 to 2 in an inter-county winter league battle Sunday at San Pablo.

Johnny Babich checked his usual excellent brand of ball for the Odd Fellows until the seventh inning, when he was replaced by Murphy, who finished the game.

Loss of the Y. M. I. outfit did the heavy hitting of the day, making four out of five times at bat, while Viano of the Odd Fellows smashed the ball for a four bagger.

High Cagers To Play Fast Games On Local Court

The Richmond Union High school varsity and B Hoopsters will be occupied this afternoon, tomorrow and Thursday in fast, hard, strenuous games with eastbay high schools.

This afternoon Coach Phil Hemmle's varsity and Coach Frank Ribbel's B's will go into action against the San Rafael High school cagers in the local gymnasium at 3:30.

Tomorrow afternoon the Richmond varsity and B's will go to Crockett to play a return game with the John Swett High school athletes.

Thursday afternoon the Richmond Union High school varsity and B squads will tangle with the University High school aggregations in the University High school gymnasium in Oakland.

This is a strenuous schedule, and the local teams will have many hard tasks ahead of them. All three opposing squads are dangerous and the local defense will have to be especially flawless and the local offense will have to be at its greatest speed if it expects to crumple these three opposing high schools.

Among those who may see action for the Richmond Union High school varsity today are: Ed Westman, Carl Drexel, Leslie Marcus, Ugo Boschetti, John Rollino, O'Brien San Filippo, Reno Passone, Benny Hoefler, Masek, Searcella and Kenney.

The Richmond B lineup for today may include: Santae's, Carl Johnson, Ernie Johnson, Wilson, Bowles, Collins, Dodge, Livingston, Tranuse, Laiz and Anthes.

Lindsey Pleads 'Not Guilty' To Peace Charges

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—UP—The bitter controversy between Bishop Manning, founder of this country's juvenile court system, and Bishop William Manning, head of the Episcopal Diocese of New York, which resulted in Lindsey being bodily thrown out of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine yesterday, may reach a second exciting climax next Friday.

On that day Lindsey will appear in Westside court to answer to a charge of disorderly conduct brought against him as a result of his having arisen and given the lie to Bishop Manning during prayer at the cathedral Sunday morning.

In all probability Bishop Manning will be present as a witness in the court room when the case comes up for a hearing. After his arraignment today, at which he entered a plea of not guilty, Lindsey asked that a subpoena be issued for the Bishop. Later in the day announcement was made by Lindsey's attorney that the subpoena had been issued and served on Bishop Manning.

Trojans To Play Galloping Gaels In 1931 Season

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—UP—Only six intersectional football games have been scheduled for Pacific Coast Conference teams thus far for the 1931 season, it was learned at the annual fall meeting today.

Stanford has two intersectional games, playing Minnesota at Palo Alto Oct. 10, and Dartmouth, Harvard Stadium, at Cambridge Nov. 28.

Southern California will play Notre Dame for the sixth consecutive year but the game will be held at South Bend, Ind., for the first time.

Oregon will travel to New York to meet New York university at Yankee stadium Oct. 31 and University of California at Los Angeles will go to Evanston, Ill., to meet Northwestern on Oct. 17.

In the other intersectional game Washington will play Utah, undefeated and undrafted during the past season, at Seattle, Sept. 26. California is dickering for a game in the east for Nov. 28, and it is believed that efforts are being made to schedule Yale for a post season game on that date at New Haven.

Southern California has all its dates tentatively filled except one, Nov. 28, playing eight conference games, St. Mary's and Notre Dame.

CARIDEO IS SANTA FE FIVE LAUDED BY WRITER WINS FROM LINKERS

By GEORGE KIRSEY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—UP—Leaving an almost unparalleled record in intersectional football behind him, Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, surely must rank among the five greatest field generals in all gridiron history.

Perhaps only Knute Rockne knows how much Carideo's swift and sure decisions in the heat of the battle, with only a second to think, contributed to Notre Dame's amazing two year undefeated record.

Many times during this streak of 19 straight victories Notre Dame has been threatened with a defeat or tie, but always Carideo has extricated the Irish eleven and brought it through triumphant.

Some Errors
"Has Carideo ever made a mistake in judgment in the past two years?" I asked Rockne recently. "If he has," Rockne replied sharply, "Undoubtedly Carideo has committed some errors during the past two seasons, but his hair trigger decisions in a pinch have always overshadowed any minor mistakes made by him."

A Napoleon
In his actions and mannerisms, Carideo is a replica of Napoleon. He is cock sure, almost to the point of being domineering. Watching him drive his team on the field, he seems cold and relentless.

Carideo's flawless direction of Notre Dame's attack held a crowd of 90,000 almost spellbound as the Irish overwhelmed Southern California, 27 to 0. When the stocky little Italian, playing his last college game, was taken out of the game in the last period at his own request, the crowd rose up in one great roar in tribute to his gridiron genius.

Carideo's generalship is so keen and dynamic that one need not be a football fan to feel or see it as he moves about the field. He resembles a master strategist moving men around on a vast white lined chess board as though they were pawns.

Never Takes Ball
During his two year reign as regular Notre Dame quarterback no player was permitted to offer him any advice as to selection of plays. If a Notre Dame player saw a rival playing out of position or noted some flaw in the other team's defense, he reported the fact to Carideo. From this information Carideo always reached his own conclusion.

Carideo almost never carried the ball on a running play from scrimmage. He excelled at place kicking, going goals, placing punts, passing, blocking tackling. He was supreme in his choice of plays, probably the greatest field general since Walter Eckersall's day.

Carideo's football career is not over as he will return here Dec. 27 to play with a team of ex-Notre Dame stars in a charity game.

After he graduates at Notre Dame this spring, Carideo may take a job coaching, providing he receives an offer from some school where he can study medicine.

Lineups
The McCracken line and the Fetters should afford plenty of action Thursday night when they clash in the A division contest. The B competition for the evening will be provided by the Garfield and Ben Malik squads.

The Santa Fe team last night included: E. Nelson 8, Roche 2, forwards; K. Nelson 2, center; J. Nelson 9, Nelson, guards; substitutes, Moore, center; Tula, 7 forward.

The Odd Fellows were: Marini 4, Viano, forwards; Baldwin 11, center; Gualdoni, G. Gordon 8, guards; substitute—W. Gordon 2, guard.

The Civic Center Tires included: Sassone 4, Ferguson, forwards; Roveda 5, center; Williams 8, Bunn-garner 1, guards; substitutes—Malliani 8, Seawright, guard.

The Garfield quintet consisted of: Page 2, Melin 11, forwards; Arnold 2, center; Maloney, O'Connell, guards; Marcos 6, forward; Swenson, center; Weeks 3, guard.

OFFICE WIFE IS SHOWING AT FOX

"The Office Wife" opened last night at the Fox-California theater to a capacity audience. The picture shows what can be done with a rather simple plot with a good cast and a good director. If one were to say that there is a triangle plot in this film, and leave it like that—the readers would immediately turn up their noses. So one must specify that this is a triangle plot—different from anything ever seen. There is a twist to it. It is not done in the usual stilted style. It is an intelligent and absorbing piece of work. That is enough for the story. It must be seen to be appreciated.

Dorothy Mackaill is, as usual, charming and clever in the role of the private secretary. Lewis Stone makes a dashing and interesting employer. Natalie Moore-head does wonders with her part as the wife of the employer. It is always pleasant to see Hobart Bosworth. He is counted upon to give a good performance. In fact, the entire cast deserves credit for contributing to make this picture the entertainment it is. Other members of this notable cast are Blanche Friderici, Joan Blondell, Brooks Benedict, Dale Fuller, and Walter Merrill.

Lloyd Bacon, who directed Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" and "Say It with Songs," and John Barrymore in "Moby Dick," is responsible for the direction of "The Office Wife."

Movie Stars' Bank Closes

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8.—UP—The Bank of Hollywood was closed by the state superintendent of banks today after a run of several days had made it impossible to liquidate its assets rapidly enough to meet withdrawals.

Superintendent Wood described the closing as "temporary" in the event that an acceptance plan for reorganization is forthcoming within the next seven days. If such a plan is not found and liquidation becomes necessary, the bank will be little, if any, loss to depositors and stockholders, Wood said.

A number of film stars have accounts in the bank. Harry Langdon, comedian, was among those in front of the head office building today. Posing with pockets turned out, he told photographers he had $25,000 on deposit.

In a statement, Wood said that the bank was "one of the smaller banks in the Los Angeles community and that its assets represent less than one-fourth of one percent of the total banking assets of Los Angeles. The bank has one branch, also in Hollywood."

Wood said he had taken control of the bank because weak loans caused a few losses and that the current depression of bond prices made it impossible for the bank to liquidate approved bonds to advantage in raising funds.

The integrity of no one connected with the institution is involved in the closing, Wood declared. Reports said the bank has resources of $4,023,020 and deposits of $3,523,000.

RENO DIVORCE CASES ARE SPEEDED

RENO, Nev., Dec. 8.—UP—Divorce proceedings were speeded up here today and more than a score of decrees were granted during the morning session, including one to Mildred Zukor, Leow, daughter of Adolph Zukor, motion picture producer, which nullified her marriage to Arthur M. Leow, son of the late Marcus Leow and head of the theater chain that bears his name.

A divorce was being granted every five or ten minutes and the afternoon session was as crowded as had been that before lunch. Mrs. Leow was granted the privilege of relating details of her complaint charging extreme mental cruelty in the privacy of Judge T. F. Moran's chambers. All papers were ordered sealed. She was granted custody of two children, Jane, 8, and Arthur, Junior, 4, who have been attending private school here.

There were rumors here that Leow intends to marry Helen Moran, the actress, and that Mrs. Leow plans to become a motion picture actress but they could not be confirmed.

Mrs. Leow was said to have received a generous property settlement after the separation several years ago. The couple married in New York on Jan. 6, 1920.

Most of the decrees granted today were on charges of cruelty, although one of the most prominent divorces was Mrs. Dorothy R. R. Clarke, former member of the Seep Hollow Country Club set and she claimed she was deserted by Robert G. Clarke of New York.

Marjorie Barker was divorced from Ransom G. Barker of Westchester County, New York, because he tipped over a table spilling coffee on her. Margaret Belknap Strohm was divorced from Raymond I. Strohm, Washington, D. C. Patricia Madeline Dant was divorced from Thomas W. Dant, Santa Monica, and Eva Findley was divorced from Stewart Phillips Findley, Los Angeles.

FORTUNE SHIP WRECKED BY BLAST

BELLE ISLE, France, Dec. 8.—UP—The Italian salvage ship Artiglio, lost with its captain and most of its crew, lay on the ocean floor in the turbulent Bay of Biscay today, victim of a deep sea explosion in pursuit of the dangerous career for which the vessel had become internationally famous.

Sixteen dead was the toll, and seven others, badly injured, were rushed to Belle Isle for treatment. The dead included Capt. Jacques Bertelotti and at least two of his three expert divers. They were Alberto Gianni, chief diver, and his two assistants, Pietro Franceschi and Alberto Barzellini.

Famous Men

These men became famous, along with their salvage ship Artiglio, when a few months ago they discovered the sunken treasure ship Egypt, lost with nearly $6,000,000 in gold, and began the dangerous task of unloading the precious metal. Early autumn storms forced them to abandon the task until spring, and they took on other odd jobs in the salvage line to pass the winter.

The explosion which killed them occurred beneath the surface of the Bay of Biscay, off the coast of France, at 4 p. m. Sunday, while the Artiglio was seeking to salvage the sunken war munition ship Florence. They were removing the wreckage when a roaring blast shot the Artiglio into the air. The little ship then sank like a stone, survivors said.

"I don't know how it happened," the chief mechanic of the Artiglio told the United Press in describing the tragedy. "Three divers were down yesterday. They placed four mines under the Florence. When they reappeared at the surface, a signal was given."

"Then the surface was seen seemed to spurt into the air, and the Artiglio sank like a rock. I was thrown clear, and landed in the water."

The police vessel Rostro, working three miles away from the scene of the accident, heard the rumbling explosion and rushed to the assistance of the survivors. The police rescued seven injured men. Four were reported in grave condition.

Bodies of some of the victims were recovered. The authorities said they believed the accident was due to a premature explosion. The Florence was loaded with ammunition when sunk eight miles off Belle Isle, in 1918. The captain of the Artiglio had contracted with the French government to remove the wreckage of the Florence.

It was believed the sinking of the Artiglio definitely ended the attempts to raise the treasure ship Egypt, inasmuch as the Artiglio was especially equipped to handle the operation.

The Egypt, it was recalled, sailed from London for India in 1922, with a cargo worth $5,445,000 in gold and silver. The ship was rammed in a dense fog off the French coast and sank, with a loss of about 100 lives.

Revenge Fire Kills Girl

HELPER, Utah, Dec. 8.—UP—An unidentified man who set fire to a rooming house here apparently to seek revenge on the owner, causing the death of an 11-year-old girl and injury to four other persons, was sought by a posse in the mountains tonight.

The fire broke out in a room after the stranger had been refused admittance to the house. Before he left, he shouted angrily, "I'll get even."

The girl, Christina Evonoff, was trapped in the house. Her mother, Mrs. Mary Bishop, fled from the burning house thinking her daughter had been rescued.

Mrs. Bishop and her son, Stephen, 7, were in a critical condition at a hospital from burns. The condition of the other two persons was not serious.

AIR SERVICE PLANNED HERE

Richmond is to be served by a passenger airplane transport concern which will operate out of the city from San Francisco via Oakland to Sacramento, Fresno, Santa Cruz and intermediate points.

Announcement of the new schedule was made yesterday by Henri De Lott, president of the National Airways Ltd., the new concern, who was in the city at that time.

Veteran pilots will have charge of the ships which will carry eight passengers. The planes are Travelaires with 435 horsepower Wasp motors with a cruising speed of 118 miles an hour.

Two sites are being considered by the concern as possible landing fields for Richmond and surrounding passengers. The old San Pablo airport is one of the sites.

It is expected the new service will be ready to start in January 1. Some of the largest airplane company officials in the country are to be on the board of directors, it was said.

The present schedule calls for the arriving of a ship here every two hours bound for Sacramento. Alternate trips to Sacramento will go by way of Vallejo and Napa, while other flights will be made by way of Martinez and Fairfield to Sacramento.

Planes will operate from the San Francisco Airport at Alameda to carry passengers to Sacramento or the other two routes of the company. They are to Fresno by way of Stockton, Modesto, Turlock, Merced and Madera. The third route is to Santa Cruz by way of San Jose, Hollister, Salinas, Del Monte.

A 30 minute service is to be given across San Francisco bay from the San Francisco airport at Alameda to the metropolis. Two amphibians have been secured for this purpose.

The planes to Fresno will leave every three hours, while the Santa Cruz route will be served with the same frequency.

Automobile transportation will be given Richmond passengers to and from the flying field, it was stated yesterday.

Officials of the company are: Henri De Lott, president; and general superintendent of operations; F. M. Snook, first vice-president, business manager and treasurer; A. Trammont, second vice-president; A. L. O'Donnell, secretary; O. C. LeBoutillier, chief pilot; Eugene Phillips, chief engineer; D. C. Warner.

Pilots of the concern are: O. C. LeBoutillier, Ace Fraguier, William E. Hottel, John V. Wallen, Donald K. Cobb, Charlie A. Jackson, Stanley L. Shoemaker, Edgar C. Anderson Jr., Roy H. Varney, Eugene Phillips and Lieut. Charles Shone.

Prison Director Slain By Thugs

CALCUTTA, Bengal, Dec. 8.—UP—Three Bengalis shot Lieut.-Col. Normal Sinner Simpson, inspector general of Bengal prisons while he was in his office today.

The three assassins fled and were not captured. When they entered and demanded an audience with Simpson, servants told them he was busy. They were pushed aside and went into the office and fired the fatal shots.

As they ran from the building they fired shots at J. W. Nelson, judicial secretary and an unnamed American. The former was wounded while the latter escaped unharmed.

New Orleans Still Historic Old City Of Colonial South

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8.—UP—New Orleans has kept much of its native color, of which history of a century ago tells.

Calico-clad negroes still go to the market, carrying heavily laden baskets on their heads.

Old—and young—Creole gentlemen sit in musty, palm shaded, courtyards, and sip wine and other liquors of almost forgotten vintage.

There are Jean Lafittes—not known as dashing pirates, but clever bootleggers and gangsters.

Great elaborate balls still are given for the wealthy—and the poor sing and dance in the street.

Parades—almost every week Canal street is halted while bands play and people march.

The Vieux Carre—or French town as the tourists know it—is a riot of color and sound from dawn to dusk. The rest of New Orleans may have become modern—but not the original city.

Tourists, however, rarely see the old town at its best.

Few see the negroes in early morning going to market, stepping their way through traffic without upsetting the beans and potatoes in the baskets on their heads.

At night the French quarter is like an enchanted land. From courtyards comes the music of many nations. Dim lamps in small lanterns, patterned from the early gas lights flicker and glow. Children play and dance in the streets.

Old buildings, with lace-work iron balconies shelter the banquette, as the sidewalks are called. The streets are so narrow that traffic can move in only one direction. One hears a half-dozen languages spoken.

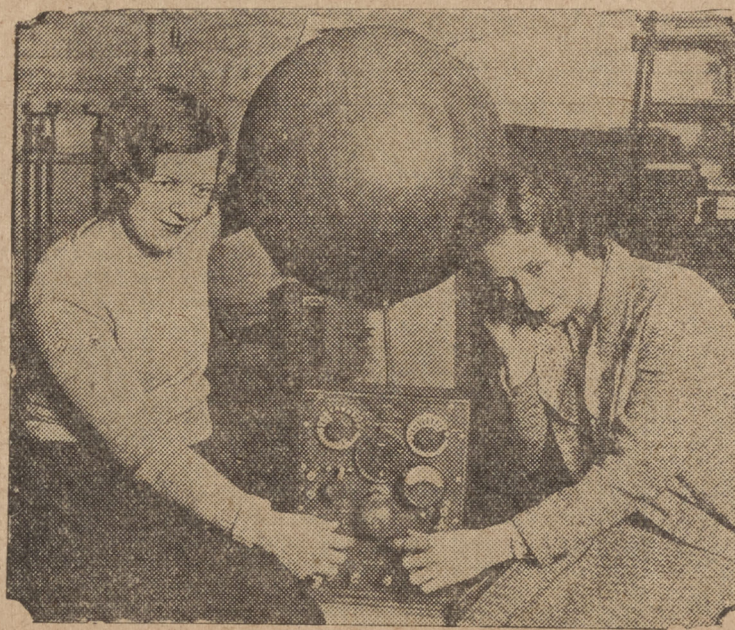

Divorces During Holidays Banned

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 8.—UP—District and county courts of Denver will be closed to divorce seekers during the Christmas holidays, from December 24 to January 2, according to an agreement made today by the various judges.

County Judge George Luxford, spokesman of the group, summed up the purpose of their action thus:

"Christmas is the day the child and back of the child, of the home. It means something more than giving and receiving gifts. Christmas is the time to strengthen, not to break, home ties. So there will be no divorces tried in my court during Christmas week."

BRITISH LABOR PARTY SPLIT SEEN

LONDON, Dec. 8.—UP—Sir Oswald Mosley, who favors the overhauling of the parliamentary machinery of government and the establishment of a virtual dictatorship in Great Britain, strongly intimated today that his faction might split with the labor party and organize a new political entity.

Mosley, in an exclusive interview with the United Press correspondent, declared that the laborite faction which he heads had stated its policy, and that it was up to the labor party to act.

In his statement of policy, issued as a manifesto signed by 18 members of the labor party, Mosley proposed a reorganization of the government, industry and commerce in a manner similar to the Soviet Russian 5-year industrialization plan.

Mosley, asked if he were dissatisfied with the policies of the labor party as it now functions under Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, replied:

"Obviously. That is why I resigned as chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster."

He resigned that position in the labor government some months ago when the government rejected a scheme he had for solving unemployment. He did not, however, resign from the party, and in recent months has become recognized leader of a small group of extremists within the labor group.

Asked if he thought unemployment in Great Britain could be cured despite the world economic crisis, Mosley replied:

"Certainly. In fact, if the problem is properly handled, I even believe that after the crisis is over it will be possible for Britain to resume its place among the leaders of world industry."

Responding to a question whether there was any indication of support for his plan to overhaul the machinery of government and place almost dictatorial powers in the hands of a few men in the ministry, Mosley said:

"Well, we polled over 1,000,000 votes at the recent labor conference at Llandudno, where the government beat us by only 200,000."

Mosley's extremist group has caused Premier MacDonald almost as much worry as the opposition of the conservatives or the uncertainty of the Liberal party's support.

Changes

DELBERT GREEN, convicted in Salt Lake City for the murder of his wife and her parents, chose death by a firing squad, when asked whether he preferred that form of execution or hanging. Later, however, he appealed on the grounds of insanity. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 8.—UP—Three fur coats that had been purchased by Mrs. Paul Fagan, society matron, an hour earlier were stolen from her limousine here today.

PAIR TORTURE, WALNUT CREEK RANCHER

MARTINEZ, Dec. 8.—After being beaten for more than two hours, Dennis Pendergast, 50 hours, trainer for Col. John Marchbank near Walnut Creek was in an Oakland hospital tonight in a serious condition.

The assailants took $50 from Pendergast when he entered his bunk house last night and demanded more, believing he had a large sum of money cached about the place.

Physicians feared that it might be necessary to amputate the left hand of the man, due to the absence of circulation in the member for more than 11 hours when he was bound by a tourniquet placed there by the holdup pair in an effort to force a confession from him.

Pendergast left the main bunk house last night about 3:15 and started for his own place which is about 300 yards distant. At the door of his place he was set upon by the assailants who beat him senseless with sand bags.

They robbed him of $50 when he was gotten inside. After beating Pendergast the two came back for the assailants, but no definite clues were known that might link to force a confession from him, any suspect to the crime.

Two Killed By Mad Recluse

PAWNEE, Okla., Dec. 8.—UP—After killing an 18 year old boy and a deputy sheriff, Jess Powell, recluse shot and seriously wounded Louis Rabba, another deputy who came with a group of officers to place the man under arrest.

Floyd Bell was the 18 year old boy, and Ed Hartwick was the deputy killed by Powell. He admitted killing them from ambush. Marion Kendall, 20 was wounded by Powell.

The recluse had previously surrendered to City Marshal Hill, who was holding him awaiting the arrival of a posse when he shot Rabba as he stepped from a car with other officers.

A. A. Hart will be the speaker at the meeting of the Richmond Lions club today in the Hotel Carquinez. Hart will discuss the modern trend of music.

W. S. Darrell will be chairman of the day. Five minute speech series will be started at the meeting.

The victim lay in his cabin all night and was not discovered until this morning by the foreman of the ranch who went to see what was delaying the train.

County officers were searching for the assailants, but no definite clues were known that might link to force a confession from him, any suspect to the crime.

New License Plates Must Be Purchased

Renewal of motor vehicle registration for 1931 and the issuance of new license plates for 1931 will begin Dec. 15. More than two million car owners in California will be required by law to make application for renewal for registration and receive their sets of plates during the period ending at midnight on January 15. Those who neglect to apply within the time limit will be subject to arrest and fine if they operate their cars after the expiration date without the new plates, unless they can show evidence of having applied. Because many plates will be in transit in the mails after the close of registration motorists will be allowed until January 31 to place them.

"Shop early for license plates" is a sensible rule to observe, suggests the California Automobile association, which draws attention to the fact that the state in some years has collected as much as $250,000 in penalties from car owners who neglected to register within the time fixed by law.

A comparatively simple procedure is involved in registering and obtaining the new orange on black plates for the coming year. The white slip certificate of registration is presented together with the amount of the fee, which is $3, with a graduated scale of added charges for commercial vehicles according to weight and other features.

"Today but few people realize the potential value of intense scientific research work, particularly when carried on by successful corporations with ample capital at their disposal. I do not smoke; but a perusal of the reports made to you by qualified experts indicates that your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in connection with your Toasting Process, in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes, thereby removing certain irritants which might otherwise be present in tobacco, has opened a new era for common-sense smokers."

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating!

Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company has invited Dr. John A. Harriess to review the reports of the distinguished men who have witnessed LUCKY STRIKE's famous Toasting Process. The statement of Dr. Harriess appears on this page.

The Girl Who Wanted A Home

ONCE upon a time there was a girl who had a job in a large city— It was a good job, paying a fair salary, and she enjoyed the work— She did not want to give it up, and, being healthy and well educated, she would not ask her father and mother to take care of her— They were getting old and had just enough to live on comfortably themselves. On the other hand, she could not keep her job and live at the parental home, Since it was several hundred miles from her place of employment, And since her parents lived in a tiny community without an opening For the sort of work which she was best qualified to do. The girl was up against the problem which has confronted many generations of young men Who have had to leave the parental roof in order to earn a living, Yet who have loved and wanted home life. When a young man gets to the point where he desires it intensely enough— When he is completely and utterly sick of furnished rooms and boarding houses and other business women Who have bought or built real houses in the outskirts of the city. From which they can commute to work.

"An excellent example of a house suited down to the needs of a woman living alone," instances the writer.

"Is that of Miss Hannah Larsen of Knollwood Park, Elmhurst, N. Y. "When this house was built, "Attention was given to reducing upkeep and labor.

"As well as surplus space to keep, care for and maintain. "It consists of three rooms and kitchen. "All possible space has been put into one large studio room.

"Which is also used for dining purposes, making possible a double enjoyment of the fireplace. "The cottage of Miss Ethel N. Stanbrook, in the same community, is similar in floor plan.

"And yet with variations that give it a unique distinction of its own. "The house of Miss Elizabeth Laie and Donna D. Johansen of White Plains represents a frequent arrangement—a joint adventure in home-making.

"This, from their harmonious and successful experience, is declared by the owners.

"To be the ideal arrangement. "We keep our home life flexible with no fixed rules to tax us or prove burdensome," they said.

"A woman needs to conserve her energy. "And so her home should mean relaxation." Thus as Miss Walburn points out, is the joy of home life—her own home life—for the business girl.

"After a day among office equipment and an atmosphere of other people's making. "It's mighty restful to know that you have your own books and fireplace to come back to.

"Most of us after the first few years of business get into a rut. "A woman with a job needs something to pull her out of herself. "With a house a whole flood of new interests come in—

"Gardening, interior decoration and outlets for hobbies, sports and hospitality of her own. "And above all, week-ends with a complete change of scene from the week's grind and rush.

"Now almost four out of five self-supporting women, once a certain salary level is reached, "Go out to buy pots and pans of their own.

"And prove, incidentally, that the old bugbear of business life spoiling girls for home life is just a bugbear—not a reality.

When You Go Marketing

Select a turkey that is plump and young, with smooth dark legs and feet, and a whole lot of breastbone soft and pliable.

If you prefer the canned cranberries and other canned foods, be sure and choose the best grades—these will bear the label of a reliable firm.

Be sure the onions you buy are firm and hard and not sprouting.

Select celery with crisp, white leaves.

What a Budget Is, and Isn't

A Plan for Spending Is Not to Be Confused With a Plan for Saving

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

"I AM going to start a budget," exclaimed a housewife, "because we just must save money."

This woman has a wrong conception of a family budget. This is not a savings account. It is a method of keeping track of possessions and expenditures and accurately reconciling the family needs and wants.

In every business an accurate account of its financial affairs is essential to success. The home is a business. Money is received and spent and if this is done haphazardly it is considered poor management and in these homes one, probably, often hears the lament, "I don't know where the money goes."

Ordinary business methods may be applied to the running of the home and it is just as necessary and profitable for the homemaker to know about the money that comes and goes in the home as it is in a business. To do this in a simple and easy manner it is necessary to keep a budget and an account. In the budget you merely systematize your expected income, apportioning the amount you expect to spend for each item of household expenses. The account is a record of what is actually spent for these various items. By comparing the two you will be able to adjust your expenses to meet the income. You will see items that can be reduced to make possible to provide for other needs or wants.

For instance, the son Bob has a special musical talent and really should begin violin lessons, but you feel you cannot afford it. If you are working under a budget system you will, no doubt, see where you are overspending on another item. Referring to your budget you will discover that by cutting down a few items such as recreation, gifts, personal expenses, you can include violin lessons for Bob, which may affect his future earning capacity. This is one of the advantages of the budget. It tells what you can afford to spend and on what to spend it to the best advantage.

The keeping of these accounts is not at all difficult or complicated, nor is it a laborious task that demands much time. The expense account will require not more than ten minutes a day, and once a month you may have to devote a half hour or so to the budget.

A detailed bookkeeping system is not at all necessary. The aim of a budget is to enable the homemaker to know what she is getting for her family with the money the family is earning and how she can spend this to the best advantage. By all means try it. You will like it.

FOLLIES OF FASHION

Fur Trimming on Gowns Accents Large Figures

By Marguerite Barnes

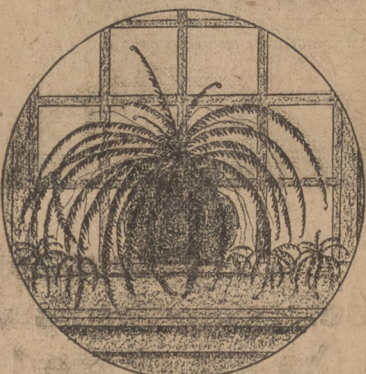

FURS are invading every sphere of the mode this season, from boudoir to ball room. Many of the new formal evening gowns have bands of fur at the hem of the skirt and are accompanied by little fur jackets, a charming fashion for the tall and slender, but one to be eschewed by the larger woman. The figure at left illustrates how a large diaphragm and broad hips are emphasized by a little lapin jacket over a velvet dress. The velvet itself gives a "large" look and the border of lapin at the hem accentuates this at right, of dull lame, crepe, georgette or similar fabric, with a slightly longer jacket, no belt and a plain skirt, is much more flattering.

A Window-Sill Fernery

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

FERNS have a reputation for being somewhat difficult of culture, and so they are, some of the species, but many are as easy to cultivate and care for as the hardy geranium.

Four or five of these different varieties, any of which can be counted upon to grow readily in your window-sill fernery, will give you a display that may be used in one bowl or box. Plant the New York fern, or Cissus, in the center, with the feathery Maiden Hair and the Lady fern. The Maiden Hair, the Lady fern, the Holly fern, the Black Spine fern, the Christmas fern, the Bismarck fern, the Cissus, or, as it is more often called, the New York fern.

With proper care and attention the combination mentioned above should flourish for years, season in and out, particularly if placed in a window looking toward the morning sun and in a room not too light.

You and Your Child

By Irma Morris

Wise Spending

"I'M going to give my child an allowance so that he will learn how to save," says a mother. "I'm going to give mine an allowance so that he will learn how to spend," says another. And it seems to me this second mother has the right idea! Spending plays a very big role in the lives of each one of us! What to buy, what not to buy; when to be lavish, when to be saving; how to make a definite sum cover a multitude of needs, these are constantly perplexing questions.

Children who have learned how to solve some of these problems on a small scale will be able to more adequately handle the big problems when they come. Through receiving a definite sum at a definite time, which is supposed to cover certain definite needs, a child can learn many valuable lessons in wise spending. The first thing he will probably learn is that some articles are better "buys" than others, that five cents spent for a toy, for instance, gives more lasting satisfaction than the same amount expended on candy. He may also learn that some rubber balls last longer than others, that fragile, poorly made toys have a short life, in other words, he learns in time to consider quality. Later on when he purchases his own clothing this lesson will stand him in good stead.

Another lesson our child quickly learns, is that money is not elastic, and if he spends for one thing, he has little or nothing left for another. Thus, he stops and thinks before making purchases, and weighs whether he can really afford them. In cases, however, where parents continually "help their children out," this lesson is not learned. He must be very stony hearted in order that the children's allowances may be truly educative. We should definitely and very thoughtfully decide upon the size of the allowance, and then, we should refuse to come to the rescue, allowing our young ones to learn their lessons.

Sooner or later a child will have a strong desire for something, the cost of which is way and far above his allowance—a new sled, a baseball uniform, a present for mother's birthday. After a little thought, he realizes that if he puts aside all or part of his allowance for several weeks, he will soon have the needed sum. Thus, he learns to save for a definite object, and at the same time he learns how to curb his immediate desires for the sake of a future satisfaction.

To one who is fortunate enough to have learned these lessons in childhood, budgeting an income will hold no terrors.

When You Go to Paint

THE odor of fresh paint causes headaches and nausea for many persons. One woman thus afflicted was advised to drink milk while painting. She tried the experiment by drinking a little milk before starting to paint and drinking a glassful after each session. She completed the painting job without any feeling of illness.

She has tried it so often that she pronounced it a sure cure and is passing it on to those similarly afflicted.

The amount of milk to be consumed varies with different persons.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

(Today we print J. Herman Seidlitz's final article on inside football, by request. Mr. Seidlitz has been describing to our readers all the trick plays he invented. As a former coach and player, he is rightly known as the grandfather of football. Mr. Seidlitz is responsible for many innovations. When Seidlitz discovered that gridiron stripes were made of lime, it was he who conceived the improvement of having lemonade stands mark the 5-yard lines. That was the birth of the chain-store idea. Today, as a result of his genius, we have orangeade stands, cigar stores and chain groceries. It was also J. Herman Seidlitz who coached the greatest of all Yale football teams. And it was his famous split play that made it great. That year, when Yale lined up against Harvard, he told them to use the split play every time. The Yale boys immediately started splitting their infinites. This agonized the Harvard men to such an extent that Yale won 32 to 0, with 5 per cent off for cash. Today, in his last article Mr. Seidlitz describes several other stratagems from his bagful of wizardry.)

THE INSIDE OF FOOTBALL

By J. Herman Seidlitz

WHEN I became coach of Ottumwa College I found the team completely demoralized. The boys had been unable to hold any secret practice, as the woodpeckers had bored holes in our concrete stadium. In addition, that was the day before keyholes in bathroom doors, so the leading spies of the country naturally flocked to Ottumwa and pecked at our team through the knotholes. It was very disadvantageous to us.

These enemy scouts not only saw all our trick plays but they sold our signals to the tabloid papers. In consequence, our October season was disastrous. We lost our first six games to Wabash, Pennsylvania, Seaboard Air Line, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

Our only hope of salvation was to outwit the opposition, so I invented some new trick plays. The most successful of these was the huddle. When I arrived at Ottumwa the team had always lined up in a straight line. They never got out of this formation except to haggle over salaries. It was therefore easy for the opposition to break through our line by making a pair of tackles, for instance, dissatisfied with their pay.

I quickly discarded this old-fashioned line-up and taught them to huddle on every play. It not only helped them to keep warm, but it confused the hostile team. When they went into their huddle I had a funny story as a signal for each play. I therefore promoted the college comedian to quarter back and not only equipped him with the piccolo player, bicycle rider, gigolo definition

Gifts in Metals and China

DECORATIVE plant dishes, especially if they are unique as well, are items to be added to the Christmas shopping list. Two such are to be had in pottery with demountable rings of iron upon one of which sits a proud looking rooster, upon the other a cat with a high-arched back. Both cat and chandelier have very long up-raised tails and are to be had in either green or black iron. The pot with their holders are designed for window sills. For cut flowers there is a gracefully-turned vase that should make some one's heart glad in the pride of possession. It is of Russian copper, has a broad base and two arched handles, stands about nine inches high, is beautifully proportioned and extremely smart.

Candlesticks have their own charm and no one ever had too many. At one of the department stores there is a pair of adorable altar ones with claw and ball feet to tripod bases—exact reproductions of their Spanish originals; and, at another shop there is a modern example of branch candlesticks with their own charm and no one ever had too many. At one of the department stores there is a pair of adorable altar ones with claw and ball feet to tripod bases—exact reproductions of their Spanish originals; and, at another shop there is a modern example of branch candlesticks with their own charm and no one ever had too many.

Still, in wrought iron there are at another shop, given over, or practically so, to articles of this metal, most amusing candlesticks. They represent, in the effect, little men in various attitudes such as saluting, walking, supplicating. The cups form the heads, the canes high hats, the stems the bodies and the base the legs. The odd and distinctly interesting candlesticks come separately and without the candles. They range from ten to twelve inches in height.

Do You Know—

Silks should be ironed with a warm iron because a hot iron dries the fiber too abruptly and causes discolorations. A little kerosene on the burn or scald will stop the pain instantly?
